

HAPPENINGS IN THE MAGIC CITY

South High Students Give Russian Play in Excellent Manner.

RECEIVE GREAT APPLAUSE

"But, pray, someone must be hanged,"—Bertha Haden as Baroness Vladimir, sister of the Russian count, Gustave Worofski, struck the keynote of the play, "The Russian Honey-moon," presented by South High students last evening, amid a wave of appreciative laughter that swept over the audience. The aristocrat baroness, as magistrate self-appointed, was acting in a marriage tangle between an Austrian woman of high rank, who had unknowingly married an imposter, a Russian serf.

The plot centered in darkest Russian-Poland and depicted with fervor the extremes of the ruling and the ruled classes.

Bennie Chizek, senior, was popular as count. Guy Emigh, as Kulikoff Demetovich, made a decided hit while Fay Card, as Ivan, a master shoemaker, approached Emigh in his production of a typical serf.

Alta Davis, as Poleka, misled wife of the count, carried herself with grace and decision. Sadie Rothholtz, as Micheline, daughter of the shoemaker, also won repeated applause.

The play was the best success in years in South High school. Prof. Cook, English teacher, received full credit for the work done. The high school orchestra played several selections.

Funeral of Joseph Kotzka.

The funeral of Joseph Kotzka, aged 78 years, pioneer Nebraskan, who died Tuesday evening, will be held at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon from the home of the daughter, Mrs. J. Prusha, 2015 Q street. F. J. Kutak will officiate. A lodge will have charge of the services. Interment will be in the Bohemian National cemetery.

Leo, 18-month-old child of Mr. and Mrs. V. Gallett, 483 1/2 South Twenty-fourth street, died of bronchial pneumonia at 10 o'clock Thursday evening. The funeral will be held Sunday at 3 o'clock from the home to Graceland Park cemetery.

Pool Hall Censorship.

A strict censorship of pool halls has been inaugurated by the night police under Captain of Police John Briggs. In police court Friday nineteen men, most of them young fellows, lined up before Judge Madden, charged with vagrancy. The judge delivered a lecture and dismissed them.

Last evening Sergeant Sheahan and Officers Grace and Baughman raided the pool hall of Jim Vasiloff, 2929 Q street, taking twelve inmates in tow. Vasiloff was charged as keeper of a disorderly house and the twelve as inmates. The officers assert that the "can was being rushed" in the place.

Tillie M. Lewis Dead.

Miss Tillie M. Lewis, aged 25 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Lewis of Bellevue, died Thursday evening at the family home. The funeral will be held Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Bellevue Presbyterian church, burial being in the Bellevue cemetery. A brother and sister survive the parents.

Mrs. Ida Mason, aged 50 years, died at an Omaha hospital Friday morning at 11 o'clock. The body is at the Brewer chapel awaiting information as to the whereabouts of relatives.

Magic City Gossip.

Adah Chapter, Order of the Eastern Star, will initiate a class of candidates this evening at their meeting place.

Entered German Steamers

Tried to Escape From Shanghai

(Correspondence of The Associated Press.) Tokyo, March 10.—A Shanghai telegram received in official quarters says that the captains of two German steamers, interned in the port of Shanghai where they took refuge soon after the outbreak of the war, attempted to get their vessels away late at night after China had sent its protest to Germany on the unrestricted submarine warfare. The two steamers were sighted steaming at top speed toward the entrance of the port under cover of darkness through the merchantmen moored in the harbor.

A Japanese warship cruising near the mouth of the port espied the mysterious ships and gave chase. Aware of detection, the German ships turned and returned to their mooring. The entente warships are maintaining a vigilant watch lest they should make another attempt.

Japanese authorities allege that the intention was to sink the steamers at the entrance of the river to block trade with Shanghai.

Heldton's Commander Says Vessel Might Have Escaped If It's Lights Had Been Out

(By Associated Press.)

Seven Americans are believed to have been lost when the American steamer Heldton was torpedoed by a submarine Wednesday night in the North Sea, off the coast of Holland. The Heldton is said to have been well inside the so-called "safe channel" of these waters when it was attacked.

Rotterdam (Via London), March 24.—The six Americans saved from the Heldton are Captain Charles Christopher of Brooklyn, J. Caldwell of New York, chief engineer, and G. Embury of New Orleans, first assistant engineer, all of whom landed at Ymuiden; O. O. Willerup, chief mate; Y. Swenson, second assistant engineer; and S. L. C. Johnson, third assistant engineer, who landed at Terschelling.

The seven Americans who perished in the sinking of the Heldton were: W. Chandler, second mate, Brooklyn; Hudgins, third mate, Norfolk, Va.; Walter Johnson, third engineer, Hoboken; E. Leveaux, oiler, Hoboken; George Healey, second messman, San Francisco; R. W. Smith, able seaman, Chicago, and John Steiner, able seaman, Pittsburgh.

Captain Christopher reached here this evening with all the survivors, who were feeling well notwithstanding the hardships they had undergone. To The Associated Press, Captain Christopher said:

"If we had not shown our lights we might have escaped. At 8:15 o'clock Wednesday evening, with a moderate breeze and choppy sea, I was in the cabin when aroused by a terrific concussion. All the lights went out and I rushed on deck in my shirt sleeves to stop the engines. I found that a torpedo had gone through amidships at the spot where the ship's name was illuminated brightly, wrecking the engine room. The light clearly served as a target.

"The lifeboats were made ready and equipped for lowering. I rushed back to the cabin in the dark and was just able to grab a coat and the sextant when a second explosion shook the ship. This time it had been torpedoed aft, setting the tanks ablaze. The burning oil ran in all directions, necessitating a quick getaway. I found that my boat, No. 1, apparently had been cut from the towline, prematurely, and had capsized near the ship and none of its occupants was seen again.

"Meanwhile the Heldton was settling down fast by the stern. One or two poor fellows in the bunks never came up, and I expect they were killed there by the explosion. I just had time to jump into No. 2 boat.

"The submarine came up once and looked at the sinking ship. No signs could be seen on the submarine, which immediately dived under water again. In twenty minutes it was all over.

"Then came twelve hours in open boats, insufficiently clad and exposed to bitter hail and snow storms, until we were picked up by the trawler Java. There was one Spaniard in my boat whose clothes had been burned off. He died of exposure.

"According to my calculations, we were well within the so-called safe channel when the Heldton was torpedoed."

GROCCERS PROPOSE AN AUDITORIUM

SOME SPACE FOR RENT

More than fifty applications for office room in the Omaha Grocers' association's proposed $65,000 auditorium have been received by the secretary, J. J. Cameron.

"Applications are being forced upon us from the big manufacturing concerns that want to get space here for local distributing centers," said Secretary Cameron.

The auditorium that Secretary Cameron has been advocating seems now to be in immediate prospect. President E. E. Wise at the meeting of the grocers' association Thursday evening was authorized to appoint a committee of five to select a location, or rather to decide definitely upon one of the five or six lots which are under consideration. When they have decided upon a location, stock will be sold, the grocers will incorporate for $100,000 and the auditorium of three stories is to be built.

"We already have $15,000 pledged, and we have as yet made no campaign," said Secretary Cameron.

It is planned to rent the lower floor of the auditorium to mercantile concerns, and use the upper floors as the home and headquarters of the association, and as office rooms and distributing centers for the big manufacturers of grocery products who are anxious to locate distributing offices here, particularly in a building of this kind where they can meet the grocers daily. Thus it is to be a kind of grocers' exchange building, where would be located representatives of the big breakfast food houses, representatives of scale manufacturers, manufacturers of auto delivery trucks and many others.

At the Commercial club rooms the grocers were the guests of the club. H. O. Wilhelm, chairman of the club's membership committee, was largely instrumental in arranging for this, since many of his new members are grocers. O. T. Eastman, chairman of the entertainment committee, presided.

Randall K. Brown, president of the club, pledged the co-operation of the club in any activity of the grocers.

GERMANS TRYING TO TERRORIZE Foe

Dr. Fred M. Fling Says This Evidently Is Policy of Teuton Government.

MADE ENEMY DETERMINED

German actions in the present war were again the theme last night of Dr. Fred Morrow Fling of the University of Nebraska in the third of his series of lectures given at the court house under the auspices of the Equal Franchise society.

The professor took up the latest work of the Germans—that of destroying orchards, homes and towns, and even dynamiting the fields in France as they retreat. He said there can be no military reason for this so far as any military men have been able to ascertain, and the only explanation thus far advanced is that they are trying to create an impression, trying to strike fear into the hearts of the French—a fear to drive them any farther back lest they render the country wholly useless for agricultural purposes.

The speaker took this occasion to go back over some of the German "terrorism," beginning with the invasion of Belgium, and following down through the Zeppelin raids on cities and towns in England. This, he said, was supposed to be another attempt to strike terror to the hearts of the English, a terror that would set up a popular demand for peace.

"It had the opposite effect, however," said the professor. "It had the effect of making the English and French all the more determined. They set their teeth and went into the fight all the harder and with more determination."

Dr. Fling was then careful to say that all this ruthlessness did not represent the spirit of the German people as a whole, but that it was representative of the German government.

"There are many fine hearts in Germany and among the German people," he said, "but there are the facts."

The speaker showed also that the whole of Bismarck's policies up to the time he fell from power in Germany were contrary to what the German government has done since that time. He said that among other things, Bismarck was in favor of cultivating the most friendly relations with England.

Japan Is to Put Censor on The Moving Picture Shows

HOT FOOT IT OVER THE BURNING SAND

One Hundred and Twenty-Eight Neophytes Learn Mysteries of the Shrine.

TORTURE FOR CANDIDATES

Grim-faced doctors, whose expressions were full of woeful solicitude, examined the 128 candidates for admission into the Shriners' mysteries, being careful to apply the stethoscope to test the hearts of the neophytes. Once their physical welfare was duly certified, the 128 nervous men were made to "hot-foot it" across the burning sands of the trackless desert, through pools of burning oil and sundry other tortures, while more than 1,000 men in red caps looked on and laughed.

It was the ceremonial session of the Tangier Temple, Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, at the Municipal Auditorium last night. Charles L. Shook, illustrious potentate, and Henry G. Forster directed the initiation. Thumb-screws and racks were about the only forms of torture to which the candidates were not subjected. New forms of tantalizing torment were invented and practiced by members of the official divan, including Henry H. Krueger, Timley L. Combs, Earl R. Stiles, Charles E. Black, W. T. Bourke, W. E. Rhoades, John R. Stine, John T. Dysart, Frank C. Patton, Dan Westergard and Franklin C. Tym.

Pleasures for Survivors.

But the neophytes were soon through the ordeal and those who survived (the guardsmen at the doors would not give even the list of those named) were permitted to enjoy a pleasing program of entertainment. The newly-organized drum corps of thirty players, who will go to the annual conclave at Minneapolis, June 25 to 28, gave a concert immediately after the initiation. Then several minstrel troupes from New York entertained with new quips, songs, dances and even a wrestling match.

About 1,200 Shriners were present, some coming from as far east as New York and Philadelphia and from as far west as California and Oregon. After the ceremonial session the newly-initiated Shriners were guests of honor at a banquet at the Hotel Rome. Short addresses were made by Nobles T. W. McCullough, H. G. Liggett, Willis G. Reed and George E. Condra.

One More Span of the U. P. Bridge Yet to Move

Trains are using the east approach of the Union Pacific bridge, pulled into place Thursday, and it is so solid and perfect that trains in passing over it are not required to reduce their speed.

However, with the completion and setting of the east approach span, the bridge is not complete. There yet remains the west approach span to place. This span will have a total length of 367 feet and will not be ready to move over until May 1. Like the other spans, it is of all-steel construction.

Auto Show Promoters Have No Fear of Hoodoo

The hoodoo "thirteen" has no terrors for members of the Omaha Automobile show association. Members of the association at a meeting held at the commercial club at noon decided to hold the thirteenth annual Omaha automobile exposition in 1918 and Clarke G. Powell, who has conducted the yearly shows ever since their inception, was again chosen to act as manager. To further defuse the hoodoo the automobile men came to this decision on Friday, the twenty-third day of the month.

Battery Guard Dies From Bullet Wound; Is Shot by Stranger

Portland, Me., March 24.—Private John Poor of the Third company, Coast Artillery corps, died tonight from a bullet wound received when he tried to halt two strangers detected near the twelve-inch gun batteries at Fort Williams today. Poor, who was 22 years old, enlisted a year ago. He was the son of Robert O. Poor of Clarkdale, Ill.

Although the batteries, which are on Cape Elizabeth, near Portland headlight, have been heavily guarded, since another sentry was fired on last Wednesday night, two prowlers succeeded early today in penetrating the lines to a point near the big guns. Poor saw them in the darkness and promptly sent a warning shot over their heads with an order to halt.

One of the prowlers returned the fire, bringing down the sentry with a pistol bullet through the thigh. Before the other guards could arrive the strangers made their escape.

Renewed precautions were taken tonight to guard all fortifications here.

Lieutenant James C. Porter, a naval recruiting officer at Rockland Wednesday night declared that German submarines were known to be not far off the coast and that an attack on the Maine coast was by no means unlikely.
